STILL WHITE

$18 Semillon California (Napa Valley)

Forlorn Hope, "NACRE", 2014

The fruit for our 2014 Nacré was hand-picked and pressed whole cluster, and underwent spontaneous/native fermentation in stainless steel. Racked off lees at the completion of ferment, the wine was bottled in June of 2016 in order to allow the significant portion of the wine's aging and development to occur under cork. To this end, it was aged six+ years in bottle prior to its release. The Nacré is produced in the same fashion as the Sémillons of Australia's Hunter Valley and is capable of decades of aging
